Main rules

The ECMP 2020 congress programme will include selected oral communications and e-poster presentations.

- Abstracts must be submitted, using the congress template, through the on-line congress submission system.
- Abstracts will be reviewed by the ECMP 2020 Scientific Committee members.
- Authors can indicate the most appropriate topic for their work as well as their preferred method of presentation. The ECMP Scientific Committee reserves the right to reassign the accepted paper to a more appropriate session and/or method of presentation.
- For inclusion in the congress programme, at least one (co)author per abstract needs to be registered for the ECMP 2020.
- Maximum of two submissions are allowed per person as the first author.

The scientific program is starting to take shape

Find out more information on the congress preliminary agenda, the provisional list of invited speakers with their talks as well as details on the exciting pre-congress ESMPE courses on the congress website.

ECMP will offer an amazing overview of cutting-edge topics related to medical physics.

Updated information on the scientific program development will be regularly posted on the website. Keep in touch!

EFOMP School courses (ESMPE)

Discover the congress venue, Lingotto

Did you know that the building now housing the Lingotto congress centre was once the ancient, avant-garde five-floor Fiat car factory with an impressive test track on its rooftop? The factory, rebuilt in 1989 by architect Renzo Piano, was reformed into a modern complex with exhibition and congress centres, hotels, shops, restaurants, museums and cinemas. The building still retains its fascinating original design.

The Lingotto congress centre offers 11 top-quality meeting rooms from 50 to 2,000 seats, with wide spaces for exhibition.
